

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter discussed the conclusion and suggestion

A. Conclusion

1. The Implementation of scenario of teaching descriptive text

According to research that has been done before, it shows that the implementation given to students is in accordance with the scenario that has been made. The scenario can be implementation completely.

2. Response the students and teacher to learning to read descriptive text

The response from teacher and students' towards the using of the Duolingo application is good and received well, even though some were having hardship towards it. During the research, there were also some students who were not good, such as eating in class and even falling a sleep in the class. However, this can be conditioned during the next day's lesson meeting.

3. Difficulties experienced by students in reading descriptive text

After conducted observations, and seen from the results of the scenario, the difficulties by students during learning using the application is how to use the application and the pronunciation from the app's spoken forms. Students suggested that at the first time they recognized this learning method they experienced difficulties, but at the third meeting there was change shown by students with pronunciation.

B. Suggestion

The benefits expected from the results of this study are among another is :

a. For Readers

It is expected that with this research, readers can add insight knowledge both from education and outside education, and can provide the latest insights related to existing material.

b. For Researcher

With this research providing new experience for researcher ranging from going directly into the field and teaching, researcher hope to be able to provide motivation to find more innovations, outside of the research they have taken.

c. For Teacher

From the research that has been taken, researcher expect the methods that have been used can be developed again by the teacher and not stay only one place. Existing material can be expanded again using other techniques but still related to the material taken by researcher so that it can be studied and understood again.

d. For Institution

Hopefully from the institution can provide a clearer picture related to the results of research taken by researcher, and to be more assertive when going to make decisions.
